Report

Certificate Course in Principles of C-Programming

To cultivate programming techniques in students we started C-Programming Certificate Course for final year B.Sc students. This programme will be a foundation for other higher languages. Other than this the student will also be benefitted in their PG Courses especially in Mathematics.

C Language helps the students to build the algorithms for Mathematical and Scientific problems. It will help the student to solve the problems in procedure oriented concepts.

To full fill the demand of students we planned to start certificate course in C-Programming which is a part of Computer Applications to the final year B.Sc students. The students were interested in learning programme. It is a part of the University curriculum so which becomes some what easy to learn for the students. we framed BoS members for developing curriculum for the Certificate Course.

We conducted BoS meeting in our college to frame the curriculum for C-Programming Certificate Course. The Trainer prepared the curriculum of 31 hours duration. We prepared compete chart of the programme with time table and limited the registration of students 102. The curriculum consists of theory and practical's.

The BoS includes 04 members theory and practical classes were conducted according to the time table without interruption of regular classes.

After completion of the certificate course the certificates were distributed to the students. The students shared their experience that they got compete knowledge with satisfaction and shown interest.
